De constructione et usu novi instrumenti idonei ad determinandas vires refractivas, et distractivas substantiarum diaphanarum. — Deductio formularum pertinentium ad focos lentium, cum earum applicatione ad calculandas sphæricitates, quæ adhiberi debent pro telescopiis acromaticis. — Extrait de ce I. volume. 2. De correctionibus pertinentibus ad oculares; quibus accedit correctio solius erroris figuræ sphæricæ objectivorum. — De lente ustoria potiss. ingenti. — De modo determinandi discrimen velocitatis, quam habet lumen, dum percurrit diversa media, per duo telescopia dioptrica, alterum commune, alterum novi cujusdam generis. — De novo genere micrometri objectivi. — De telescopio exhibente simul binas imagines ejusdem objecti, alteram directam, alteram inversam, cum earum motibus contrariis, et æqualibus. — De globulis nigris translatis per discum solis cum epist. Gallica ad ejus phænomeni observatorem. — De refractionibus astron. — De refractionibus astron., et altitudine poli, determinandis per distantia apparentes binarum fixarum supra, et infra polum. — Methodus determinandi refractiones astron. sine ulla suppositione physica, quæ non videatur omnino certa, ope instrumenti habentis utilitatem generalem in tota astronomia. — Extrait de ce II. volume. 3. De la détermination de l'orbite d'une comète par trois obs. peu éloignées. — Sur la nouvelle planète. — Extrait de la 1e partie de ce volume appartenante aux comètes. 4. De verificatione divisionum quadrantis muralis. — De examine plani quadrantis. — De erroribus collocationis quadrantis muralis deprehendendis, et corrigendis. — De verificatione puncti postremi quadrantis muralis, quod indicat positionem horizontalem. — De suspentione telescopii quadrantis muralis ope curvæ æquilibrii. — De collocatione, et verificatione ingentis quadrantis verticalis mobilis circa axem verticalem cum alidada, quæ in ingenti circulo horizontali notet azimutha. — De determinandis, et corrigendis erroribus axium in quadrantibus, et sextantibus. — De verificatione divisionum sextantis. — Problema pertinens ad excentricitatem in circulo verticali, circa cujus axem horizontalem convertatur telescopium meridianum. — Applicatio solutionis analyticæ problematis propositi numero 5 ad alium astronomiæ usum. — De quadam correctiuncula sectorum astronomicorum. — De rectificatione telescopii meridiani, Gallice instrument des passages. — De erroribus lineæ ita deprehendendis, ut obs. per eam institutæ corrigi possint. — De determinanda linea merid. una cum linea æquinoct. altitudine poli, et declinatione solis per tria extrema puncta umbræ gnomonis notata in plano horizontali, vel verticali; acc., quæ pertinent ad horologium solare. — De verificatione machinæ parallaticæ. — De formulis differentialibus trigonometriæ. — De rhombo micrometrico pro corrigendo effectu ejus positionis obliquæ. — De errore inducto a refractione in usu horologii solaris annularis universalis methodo posteriore simpliciore. — De eodem argumento præcedentis opusculi methodo complicatiore. 5. De apparitione et disparitione annuli Saturni. — Sur les élémens de la rotation du soleil sur son axe determinés par l'obs. de ses taches. — De determ. longitudinis penduli oscillantis ad singula secunda temporis medii. — Notice abrégée de l'Astronomie pour un marin. — Methodus determinandi altitudinem poli ope gnomonis supplendo instrumenta ad id opportuna, ubi desint. — Détermination du limbe éclairé de la lune qu'on doit attendre au méridien. — Méthode pour employer le retour de Venus à la meme longitude par la rétrogradation pour la détermination des élémens moins certains de son orbite. — Méthode pour corriger les élémens d'une comète, dont on a la longitude du nœud, et l'inclinaison de l'orbite par un à-peu-près. — Méthode analogue pour trouver l'orbite elliptique, quand la parabolique ne s'accorde assez avec les observations. — Méthode pour corriger les éléments d'une planète par trois observations. — De orbitæ inclinatæ projectione in planum ecliptices. — De orbitæ inclinatæ projectione in aliud planum. — De calculanda aberratione astrorum orta e propagatione luminis successiva. — Démonstrations simples de quelques beaux théorèmes appartenants aux triangles.
